

Patient Center Medical Home Health Center of Southeast Texas

A Patient Centered Medical Home (PCMH) is a system of care in which a team of health professionals work together with you, the patient, to provide you with the best care possible. PCMH is a model of care that strengthens the physician-patient relationship by replacing episodic care with coordinated care and a long-term collaborative relationship.

YOUR CARE TEAM

- Will gather information about care you have received and update your records to provide comprehensive, coordinated care.
- Will communicate with you by giving you time to ask questions and answer them in a way that you understand.
- Will help you make the best decisions for your care.
- Will ask for your feedback about your patient experience.
- Provide treatment and recommend preventative services using evidence-based guidelines.
- Help you set care goals and meet these goals every step of the way.
- Give you information about community support groups, services and self-support resources to keep your family healthy.
- Work with you to obtain the best whole person health, which includes mental and behavioral health services.
- Our comprehensive services include: primary medical care, psychiatry, counseling, women's health, pediatric care, lab services, minor emergencies, immunizations and chronic care management
- Provide resources and information to care. Please follow this link for additional education for various health related topics: https://www.cdc.gov/dhds/materials_for_patients.htm
