Hey ya'll,

Hot enough for ya? Who doesn't love this sweltering heat of July! Thank goodness we live next to the ocean, right?! Every year you can count on the subtropical weather that brings its mix of weekend hustle and bustle to Kemah, Clear Lake Shores, and South Shore Harbour. The hot humid air filled with anticipation for Independence Day parties, loaded with fireworks off the docks that light up our beloved Galveston Bay coastline .

July is also a prime time for long overdue family vacations, and a chance to explore new places and create lasting memories. Whether you're traveling across the country or enjoying the local beauty of our Texas coast, the adventures and experiences are invaluable.

In this issue, we are excited to feature Marissa Garcia and her golden boys. As Kemah Living's health and beauty expert, Marissa shares her insights, including an intriguing article on living longer and looking better.

Additionally, this issue includes expert articles on achieving your fitness goals with Snap Fitness in Seabrook, finding the right pediatric dentist, and a business profile on The Goddard School of League City. Check out our feature on the restoration of Rett Reef, which aims to highlight a rebuild of a local oyster reef, while bringing awareness to Rett Syndrome.

Our sponsors are dedicated to our community, their support reflecting their genuine care for our neighborhood and magazine. Kemah Living is your source for local knowledge, a way to connect families and individuals through shared stories and passions.

So, continue to enjoy the heat, the water, and summer life. Let that southern hospitality shine in your actions. Feel free and grateful for this moment of living on the Texas coast together, because it doesn't get much better than this. Enjoy the summer, and stay cool!

Stay thankful,

Tony Bell

Biscuit and Snow: A Pawsome Friendship

BY TONY BELL

Meet Biscuit, a four-year-old female Maltese Mix. She was rescued from the Pasadena Animal Shelter and has become a lively member of the Evans family. Her soft white coat is characteristic of the Maltese breed, Biscuit is not only adorable but also incredibly loving. Despite her finicky eating habits—she eats to live rather than lives to eat—she is always up for any and all treats, making snack time a delight.

Biscuit shares her home with Snow, her playful cat sister. The two get along famously, often engaging in playful antics. However, Biscuit has to be careful with her food, as Snow has a habit of snacking on it if left unattended. This harmonious relationship extends to other animals as well, as Biscuit is known for her friendly nature and ability to get along with other pets.

Maltese dogs, like Biscuit, are beloved by many, including numerous celebrities. The breed's charm and elegance have made it a favorite among stars such as Halle Berry, Heather Locklear, and Lindsay Lohan. One of the most famous Maltese was Leona Helmsley's dog, Trouble, who inherited a substantial trust fund.

Biscuit's story beautifully illustrates the loving and friendly nature of Maltese dogs. From their plush coats to their playful demeanor, it's no wonder that they are adored by both ordinary pet owners and celebrities alike. Biscuit's rescue story adds another layer of depth to her charm, making her a shining example of the joy and companionship she has brought into the Evans family life.

Jumping into Summer with Marissa Garcia

BY TONY BELL | PROFESSIONAL PHOTOS BY ADORABELLA PHOTOGRAPHY

If you couldn't tell from this month's cover, Marissa Garcia lives life to the fullest, a resident of Kemah, her story is both exhilarating and deeply rooted in her love of her family and passion for helping others. With a background in nursing and a drive to make a difference, Marissa has successfully transitioned from working in the chaotic environment of the NICU at Texas Children's Hospital to owning and operating her own business, Glow Up Drip Spa & Aesthetics.

Marissa's journey started with her interest in the medical field, where she dedicated her time to caring for the most vulnerable patients. "I loved my job in the NICU," she recalls. "But I grew tired of the hospital politics and the bureaucracy." Seeking a more personal and fulfilling way to help people, Marissa shifted to home health care, where she could provide more individualized attention. One memorable patient, a young boy with a heart condition, inspired her to explore new avenues for helping others. During this time, she began to delve into aesthetics, earning certifications and starting to offer Botox treatments on the side.

Her plan was always to open her own business once the young boy no longer needed her care. True to her word, Marissa launched Glow Up Drip Spa & Aesthetics, which quickly expanded from purely aesthetic services to a comprehensive wellness approach. "I didn't know I was going to add the wellness part, but it has really taken off," she says. "I help clients with IV infusions, weight loss, and overall health improvement. It allows me to continue being a nurse in a way that feels true to why I started."

Marissa has now established herself as an expert in her field. She still finds time to be a great mom to three boys, Jacob, Jaylen, and Jarren, who are all grown and pursuing their own paths. Jacob, the oldest, is a firefighter in Webster, while Jarren works as a firefighter in Baytown. Jaylen, the middle son, is studying communications at the University of Houston-Clear Lake. Marissa speaks with great pride about her sons and their accomplishments, however what she is most proud of is how they were raised to treat people with dignity and respect to others.

Kemah has become a true home for Marissa, who has lived in the area for over a decade. She loves the small-town feel and the sense of community. "I've made some good friends here, and people are always willing to help out," she says. Despite her initial fear of opening a business, she received immense support from friends and family.

Family dinners at the Garcia house are every Wednesday. They are a cherished tradition in the Garcia household, although the boys' schedules as firefighters sometimes necessitate flexibility. "We take turns cooking, or sometimes we go out to eat," Marissa explains. This tradition is important to their family life for years, creating a sense of love and laughter over a dinner table and a chance to remind the brothers of the special bond they share together.

Marissa's life is jam packed with cool events and activities beyond her business. She is an avid traveler, having visited places like Africa, Ireland, and Australia. Her trips often combine personal travel with medical mission work, something that she does to remind herself of why she chose her path of wellness. She also enjoys attending concerts, theater productions, and baseball games. She is a season ticket holder for the Astros, Theater Under the Stars, and Broadway at the Hobby, and if you're buying her a drink, she'll take a beer.

Another interesting fact about Marissa is her love for tattoos, each with their own story that reflect her journey and personal growth. Many of her tattoos feature empowering women or figures who have been misunderstood, like Medusa and Frida Kahlo. Her tattoos serve as symbols of strength and resilience, much like Marissa herself.

In her professional life, Marissa continues to seek out advanced training opportunities, traveling as far as Amsterdam for injector training and participating in cadaver lab training in New York. Her dedication to staying at the forefront of her field ensures that she can provide the best possible care for her clients.

Marissa is one of the most vibrant, funny, unfiltered, unashamed, and real people I know. Follow her on social media and you'll know what I mean. She has so many wonderful qualities that make her stand out in a room. Her story is an inspiration to many people with a passion to help others. From her early days of flight nursing to running the show today as the boss, she has always put people first. Marissa is a great person to know, and brings so much value to our community. She continues to make a positive impact in the lives of those around her, and is a big part of Kemah Living. At the end of the day, there is no doubt that Marissa is living La Vida Loca, and loving every second of it.

Living Longer and Looking Better:

Why Aging Wellness is the Future of Beauty

BY MARISSA GARCIA

As the saying goes, "you're only as old as you feel." But what if you could truly feel years younger with a visit to your local medspa? We've all felt that sinking sensation upon entering a beauty boutique, wondering how many more cosmetic treatments it will take to turn back the clock.

While Glow Up is already a leader in regenerative aesthetics with our bio-stimulating fillers like Radiesse and our double-purified neurotoxin, Xeomin, cutting-edge research in longevity and anti-aging therapies now means looking and feeling our best goes beyond surface treatments!!!

Friends, let me tell you—the solution is here with new "aging wellness" strategies that focus on what truly fuels our inner beauty: our cells. The key to aging gracefully lies in giving our hardworking cells the extra care they need to repair themselves more effectively. Leading this revolution is Glow Up Drip Spa & Aesthetics. Word on the street is that their upcoming LONGEVITY LOUNGE will feature the latest "biohacking" therapies, fresh from Silicon Valley's most youth-obsessed labs.

Optimize your cellular function with specialized "longevity drip" IV therapies and peptide combinations designed by anti-aging experts. Boost collagen and elastin production with peptides for plumper, brighter skin that lasts. Heck, you may even walk out feeling like you've been reborn—clients often experience increased energy, mental clarity, and improved mood for days to weeks after. It's like a double shot of espresso for your well-being!

Discover an indulgent spa treatment that rejuvenates both body and soul! Say farewell to temporary fixes with Glow Up's next level approach to aging well. No more short-term, surface beauty solutions that drain your energy and wallet. At Glow Up, we elevate your beauty by giving your cells the royal treatment they deserve. Embrace better health for a radiant appearance—because at Glow Up, we believe that better health equals better looks, unlocking the keys to both.

Want to look and feel fabulous for years to come? Yes please! Book your cellular renewal consultation today at Glow Up Drip Spa & Aesthetics!

Discover Excellence in Early Childhood Education

AT THE GODDARD SCHOOL OF LEAGUE CITY

BY RATNA KANERIA

Welcome to The Goddard School of League City, the premier destination for early childhood education. Our belief is that children learn best through hands-on experiences. Our educational philosophy integrates current, academically endorsed methods to ensure children enjoy learning the essential skills they need for long-term success in school and life.

Why Choose The Goddard School?

Holistic Development and Academic Preparation

At The Goddard School, we pride ourselves on our commitment to holistic child development and academic excellence. Our approach ensures that every child is nurtured and educated with respect, compassion, and an understanding of their unique needs. This dedication creates a warm and welcoming environment that fosters a love of learning and a strong sense of community.

Engaged Parental Involvement

We believe that parental involvement is crucial to a child's success. We encourage parents to be actively engaged in their child's education, creating a partnership that supports and enhances the learning experience. Don't just take our word for it—learn more about the Goddard experience from our family feedback, which highlights the positive impact of our community-driven approach.

Tailored Educational Programs

Our educational programs are designed to meet the needs of individual children, allowing them to explore their curiosities and interests. The Goddard School's distinctive structure ensures that children are recognized and appreciated for their unique talents and personalities. Our expert teachers, who specialize in early childhood education, guide children through lessons using fun learning experiences. This innovative approach lays the foundation for a lifelong love of learning.

Accreditations and Recognitions

The Goddard School has earned Cognia Accreditation and recognition from the Partnership for 21st Century Learning: A Network of Battelle for Kids. These accolades reflect our commitment to creating policies, programs, and standards that ensure high-quality early learning, child development, and childcare. Our adherence to these high standards distinguishes us from competitors and underscores our dedication to excellence.

Extensive Network and Community

With over 600 Goddard Schools in 37 states and Washington, D.C., we serve more than 75,000 students from six weeks to six years old. Our expansive network allows us to offer consistent, high-quality education and care across the country, providing families with the confidence that their children are in good hands no matter where they are located.

Join The Goddard School Family

If you are interested in joining The Goddard School, we invite you to come and see us. Enroll your child in at Goddard School of League City to experience our exceptional education firsthand.

Choose The Goddard School for a nurturing, hands-on learning, and community-oriented early childhood education that sets the stage for your child's future success.

How to Find a Pediatric Dentist

BY DR. JASON BLOCK

Board Certification for Pediatric Dentistry

Choosing a dentist for your child can feel overwhelming. While family or general dentists serve all ages and can provide good care, they do not have the specialized training in pediatric specific dentistry. Pediatric dentists are certified by the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (AAPD) which means they complete at least two years of specialized training after dental school, working solely with children in both clinical and hospital settings.

A board-certified pediatric dentist works with children daily, and their entire staff is trained to meet children's needs. Not all "kids' dentists" are board-certified pediatric dentists, so verify the dentist's qualifications and their experience working with children.

Child-Friendly Staff and Fun Atmosphere

Some pediatric dentists may let you visit prior to your child's first appointment. Ensure that the office offers a comprehensive range of services for children, including kid-friendly amenities like a comforting environment and options for treatment including sedation dentistry to ease dental visit anxiety, if needed.

Observe the office environment, cleanliness, and overall atmosphere. A welcoming office can reduce your child's anxiety. A compassionate team can significantly enhance your child's comfort during visits. Skilled dental professionals can help build trust and create a positive dental experience. For some of my patients who have special healthcare needs, such as patients diagnosed with Autism Spectrum Disorder, I allow them to come in for friendly visits between regularly scheduled ones to come say hello. It's a great time to help build our relationship and to make more positive experiences.

An Emphasis on Preventive Care

Discuss preventive care with your pediatric dentist including routine cleanings, dental sealants, fluoride treatments, and other protective measures. Preventive pediatric care helps avoid issues like tooth decay and promotes healthy oral habits as your child grows. Education should be a part of the regular visits so that these topics can be understood and implemented at home for lasting health.

Positive Online Reviews and Good Feedback

Positive reviews often indicate a great experience at a dental office. Conversely, negative or mixed reviews might suggest it's not the best choice. Don't underestimate word-of-mouth; ask other parents about their experiences. Trusted pediatric dentists often receive recommendations within the community.

If you find negative reviews, consider the context. Some complaints may be fair, while others might be isolated incidents or misunderstandings. Healthcare providers are limited in their ability to respond to negative reviews due to patient privacy laws (HIPAA).

"Always patient, kind and on time! My girls love going to this office! Dr. Brock is amazing with special needs children too! By far the best dentist in the area!"

- Amie L.

Considering Accessibility and Convenience

Finally, consider the availability of appointments and the practice's proximity to your home or child's school. This is crucial for regular visits, especially if your child needs orthodontic care, which requires frequent appointments. Consider the hours of operation and whether you can schedule appointments over the phone or via text during office hours or even after hours. Finding a conveniently located practice that offers services that work for you will simplify scheduling.

There are a lot of factors to consider when finding the right pediatric dentist for your family. If you have questions about a specific practice, it's always a good idea to give them a call.

Restoration of Rett Reef

Aims to Revitalize Galveston Bay's Oyster Harvest

BY TONY BELL

The Texas oyster harvest has concluded following another challenging season, but hope is on the horizon for Galveston Bay. A significant restoration effort, led by Prestige Oyster company and Pier 6 Oyster House, is underway to revive a damaged reef in San Leon. This initiative, named Rett Reef, not only aims to highlight the ecological importance of oysters but also raises awareness for Rett Syndrome, a neurological disorder.

Nearly 400 tons of oyster shells are being deployed on a private 10-acre reef just offshore. These shells, collected by Pier 6 Oyster House since 2020, will serve as the foundation for new oyster growth and a habitat for various marine life. The original reef was devastated by Hurricane Ike, which deposited massive amounts of sediment, smothering the oyster beds.

Public oyster reefs in Galveston Bay have struggled due to environmental challenges and overharvesting. The restoration project, in collaboration with the Texas A&M Sea Grant and The Nature Conservancy, aims to demonstrate the vital role oysters play in the bay's ecosystem. Oysters filter water, protect shorelines from erosion, and provide habitat for other marine species, contributing significantly to the bay's health.

The process of rebuilding the reef involves blasting oyster shells into the bay using water cannons, creating a bed for new oysters to attach and grow. The crew ensures the shells are evenly distributed by steering the boat in precise patterns. Once placed, new oysters will begin to spawn almost immediately, attracting other marine life and gradually restoring the ecosystem.

Prestige Oysters and Pier 6 Seafood and Oyster House have committed to making Rett Reef a non-harvestable sanctuary, serving purely as a habitat for marine life and a site for sport fishing. The initiative marks a pioneering collaboration between private industry and public conservation efforts in Texas.

The project's success will be closely monitored by scientists and volunteers, who will track the health and growth of the new oyster population. The hope is that this model can inspire similar efforts, demonstrating how private industry and conservation can work together to benefit both the environment and the economy.

Lisa Halili, co-owner of Prestige Oysters, has long understood the importance of maintaining healthy oyster reefs. Her vision for Rett Reef began in 2016, driven by her extensive experience in the oyster industry and a deep commitment to ecological sustainability. Alongside her husband, Johnny Halili, and their nephew, Gezim Halili, the family has been instrumental in collecting and repurposing oyster shells to create a sustainable reef.

Oysters are crucial to coastal ecosystems, acting as natural water filters and protecting shorelines. The restored Rett Reef is expected to contribute significantly to the overall health of Galveston Bay, setting a precedent for future restoration projects. The collaboration between industry and conservationists serves as a beacon of hope, showcasing the positive impact of sustainable practices in preserving natural resources for future generations.

20-foot BANANA SPLIT PARTY

BY JESSICA BELL

Kick off the summer with our unforgettable 20-foot banana split party in the park! We started this tradition when my boys were little, and it's become a yearly highlight ever since. The preparation is key, but seeing the joy on the kids' faces as they gaze at the enormous sundae makes it all worthwhile. This delightful treat not only adds fun to summer gatherings but also serves as a spectacular centerpiece, especially during Fourth of July celebrations. Join us to create lasting memories and enjoy the festive atmosphere!

MATERIALS NEEDED:

For the trough:

- 1 carpet tube, 1 sheet of 1/8" MDF or Masonite, jigsaw, tin foil, tape, and plastic table covers.

For the Banana Splits:

- 15 bananas, 7 tubs of ice cream, assorted toppings (sprinkles, chocolate and caramel syrup, whipped cream, maraschino cherries).

INSTRUCTIONS:

Step 1: Obtain and Prepare the Tube

- Visit a carpet store and ask for a carpet tube (about 8-10 feet long). Use a jigsaw to cut the tube in half. If needed, use the second half for a larger setup.

Step 2: Prep the Tube for Serving

- Wrap the half-tube in tin foil and secure it with tape at the bottom to make it food-safe.

Step 3: Pre-scoop Ice Cream

- In the morning of the event, pre-scoop the ice cream onto a cookie sheet layered with wax paper. Store these in the freezer on separate layers to prevent sticking.

Step 4: Assemble the Sundae

- Set up the trough on the plastic table covers and secure with tape before guests arrive. Slice bananas and prepare toppings. During the event, assign 2-3 people to add ice cream and toppings quickly. Have someone distribute spoons and ensure toppings are ready to use. Aim to assemble within 4 minutes to prevent melting.

Step 5: Enjoy and Clean Up

- Enjoy the banana splits for about 10-20 minutes before it melts, which might lead to a playful food fight. Afterward, recycle the used materials and hose down any mess.

Have a fantastic banana split party!
